Covering the Full Spectrum of Palliative Care Education

Course Catalog 2018
Our Mission

As our population ages, more people will experience serious illness and the physical, psychosocial, and spiritual distress it can bring.

Patients and families can benefit from the whole person, multidisciplinary approach of palliative care, yet there’s a critical shortage of nurses, physicians, social workers, and spiritual care professionals trained to deliver it.

Our mission is to increase access to and awareness of palliative care by:
- Educating current professionals
- Educating the future workforce
- Building community awareness and advocacy

To accomplish our goal, the CSU Institute for Palliative Care has pioneered a groundbreaking educational model for healthcare professionals that focuses on building essential palliative care skills, promoting best practices, and providing vital tools and resources needed to equip a new palliative care workforce.

Housed within America’s largest university system, which graduates 15% of the entire US healthcare workforce annually, we are extremely proud to be the country’s leading educational and workforce development initiative dedicated to improving palliative and end-of-life care.

Our Definition of Palliative Care

Palliative care is patient- and family-centered care that optimizes quality of life for those with serious or life-limiting illness by anticipating, preventing, and treating suffering. Delivered by an interdisciplinary team, palliative care can be provided throughout the continuum of illness. It aims to address each person’s physical, intellectual, emotional, social, and spiritual needs, while facilitating patient autonomy, access to information, and choice. It offers an extra layer of support for those at any stage of a serious or life-limiting illness.

Palliative care is the best care possible.

Groundbreaking Program

The first educational and workforce development initiative of its kind in the country, the Institute was founded by visionaries who knew that to reach working healthcare professionals, a unique educational delivery system steered by a dynamic cross-section of educators and palliative care experts would be required.

The Institute’s National Advisory Board comprises US leaders in palliative care who are transforming the field through practice and policy, and who help shape our curriculum and magnify our reach.

Since it was launched in 2012, the Institute has educated more than 7,600 healthcare professionals from across the US and 21 foreign countries. Nearly 9,500 future health professionals and more than 11,500 community members have benefited from Institute courses or programs.

“Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.”

– Nelson Mandela

At the California State University Institute for Palliative Care, we’re committed to advancing palliative care and making it accessible to all who need it. Our goal is to improve quality of life for patients and families facing serious or life-limiting illness, whatever the diagnosis or prognosis, and to equip healthcare professionals with the skills they need to deliver this transformative kind of care.
Advanced Practice RN Certificate in Palliative Care

This innovative program provides Advanced Practice RNs (APRNs), Nurse Practitioners (NPs) or Clinical Nurse Specialists (CNSs) the palliative care knowledge necessary to thrive in the rapidly changing worlds of palliative and hospice care.

Registered Nurse Certificate in Palliative Care

The RN Certificate in Palliative Care is an 8-week online course that prepares nurses to join palliative care teams, and bring the best of palliative care to their patients. Developed and delivered by certified palliative care nursing faculty, the course provides essential knowledge for nurses who provide, or want to learn more about providing, symptom management, culturally sensitive care, support for patients and families undergoing medical challenges, and more, regardless of the setting (hospitals, primary care, specialty clinics or practices, skilled nursing facilities, hospices, or VA facilities).

If you are transitioning to working in a palliative care/hospice setting, this course will help prepare you and increase both your skills and your confidence, regardless of your current/previous specialty experience. If you currently work in palliative care, this course provides the content needed to help you prepare for the Certified Hospice and Palliative Nurse (CHPN) exam.

The course is led by instructors currently working in palliative care who understand the challenges you face and are committed to your success. Beginning throughout the year, each fully online class consists of approximately 30 nurses from all over the country who join together as a cohort to journey through the course.

Topics Covered:
• Introduction, history and philosophy of palliative care
• Common disease states in palliative care
• Pain management and equianalgesia
• Symptom management
• Special populations and settings of care
• Grief and bereavement, care in the last hours of life
• Professional practice issues, ethics and self-care

Critical Palliative Care Skills for Social Workers & Counselors

Social workers and counselors in a wide variety of settings are now more frequently encountering clients or family members of persons suffering from serious, chronic or life-threatening illness. If you are a counselor or social worker in healthcare or in private practice, or are a social service agency, an aging services organization, or school, Critical Skills for Social Workers and Counselors can give you or your staff essential palliative care skills to:

- Address the psychosocial distress and suffering caused by serious or chronic illness
- Help clients and families define values and priorities
- Facilitate communication among patients, families and the professional care team
- Discuss goals of care/services with patients and families

The course is led by social workers and counselors currently in practice who understand the challenges you face and are committed to your success. Beginning throughout the year, each fully online class consists of approximately 30 social workers and counselors. Enhance your skills and your confidence to assist those with serious or chronic illness and their family members, effectively and compassionately.

Topics Covered:

- Types of care provision and the teams that deliver care
- Critical thinking in the context of one’s own beliefs and views
- Problem solving skills for clients and within the workplace
- Assessment and techniques adapted for clients with chronic illness, depression, and lack of support systems
- Counseling skills and motivational interviewing to create action plans and targeted clinical solutions
- Family dynamics, death, dying, grief and loss
- Role in pain and symptom management

Learning Outcomes:

After completing this course the participant will be able to:

- Apply critical thinking, assessment and positive problem solving in the context of palliative care and serious illness
- Describe the social worker’s contributions to pain and symptom management, patient-centered care plans, communication between the patient/family and care team, and development of comprehensive discharge plans
- Apply counseling and motivational interviewing techniques which incorporate individual and family dynamics, to create action plans and other therapies
- Support individuals and families through significant life events caused by serious illness or death

Essentials of Palliative Care Chaplaincy

Palliative care provides those with a serious or chronic illness, from the time of diagnosis throughout the course of treatment, care that optimizes quality of life by anticipating, preventing, and managing suffering. Today’s chaplains are often intimately involved during this difficult time, individually providing spiritual care to the patient and loved ones, or as a member of the palliative care team.

The California State University Institute for Palliative Care, known for its strong history of providing education in palliative care, has released a state-of-the-art course, Essentials of Palliative Care Chaplaincy. This new course was developed in conjunction with the Association for Professional Chaplains (APC), which serves chaplains in all types of health and human service settings.

A team of national palliative care experts and seasoned clinicians from the field of palliative care chaplaincy worked collaboratively with the Association of Professional Chaplains and the CSU Institute for Palliative Care to create this course. Essentials of Palliative Care Chaplaincy is an instructor-led, cohort-based course in which you will engage with, exchange ideas, and learn from spiritual care colleagues from chaplaincy settings across the U.S.

Topics covered:

- Spiritual care as meaning-making
- Engaging positive & negative religious & spiritual coping
- The role of the chaplain in medical decision making
- Care of groups and family systems
- Addressing spiritual and existential suffering
- Spiritual and religious approaches to suffering
- Palliative care chaplain as an inspirational leader, educator and advocate
- Professional competencies for palliative care chaplaincy
- Models of spiritual care and evaluation
- Developing the spiritual care plan
- Spiritual care interventions: the art of palliative care chaplaincy
- Grief, emotional distress and mental health
- Supporting patient goals and quality of life
- Spiritual and existential pain, physical pain and stress management
- Palliative care chaplains as facilitators of resilience and burnout prevention
- From moral distress to moral resilience
- Mindful self-compassion as a resource for resilience
- The broader palliative care chaplaincy role: research, ethics and consultation
- Cultural humility and radical respect for cultural and religious difference

Learning Outcomes:

After completing this course the participant will be able to:

- Articulate the role of the chaplain on the palliative care team as well as the scope and practice of palliative care chaplaincy
- Describe how spiritual assessment integrates and supports the plan of care, as well as the strengths and limitations of various spiritual assessment tools
- Identify models of spiritual care and spiritual care outcomes
- Communicate palliative care and end-of-life care options and facilitate decision-making in ways that help people make informed care decisions for themselves or loved ones
- Identify interventions for particular spiritual and existential pain symptoms, as well as for various forms of grief and emotional distress
- Describe effective ways to teach and model resilience to clinicians
- Identify ways chaplains can support the resilience and spiritual health of their team and their organization
- Articulate the roles for chaplains as leaders and in contributing beyond their own team in arenas including participation on Ethics Committees and Consultation Services

Essential Palliative Care Skills for Every Clinician

Essential Palliative Care Skills for Every Clinician delivers a convenient, immediately applicable-to-practice set of tools and knowledge for any provider wishing to offer primary palliative care services for their patients and families. Its curriculum is directed at the needs of primary care providers in any setting. Non-palliative care specialists, beginning hospice and palliative care team members, geriatricians, senior care providers, and others caring for patients with serious illness may also find the courses valuable. Designed by an expert task force of experienced and well-respected palliative care and primary care providers, this 34 content-hour series is comprehensive, engaging, evidence-based, and self-paced. See p. 10 or 19 for CME information.

Introduction to Primary Palliative Care

The Introduction to Primary Palliative Care course provides an overview of palliative care, and how it can be delivered in a variety of settings.

The course then turns the focus to identifying individuals who could benefit from palliative care and when, and prognostication for disease trajectories in which palliative care can augment treatment plans. Methods of prognostication, defining its benefits and its limitations are included, with application in case studies. 4.5 content hours.

Communication and Advance Care Planning

This course covers key areas for enhancing provider-patient communication. You will begin with concepts for explaining to patients and families the difference between hospice and palliative care and the benefits that each provides; examine how to reduce barriers to effective communication about diagnosis, prognosis and serious illness; and gain tools for facilitating conversations.

Using motivational interviewing to inform decision making is covered, as is assessing capacity for decision making. Advance care planning conversations are explored in detail, incorporating use of evidence-based techniques for conducting difficult conversations as well as for completing legally-binding documentation. 5.75 content hours.

Physical Aspects of Care

This in-depth course covers a wide range of the most common physical symptoms encountered in serious illness, including pain, nausea, fatigue, delirium and depression. Each symptom’s etiology is covered, with tools to perform assessments, and treatment or management strategies.

The management of pain within the primary care practice, using opioids or alternatives, is explored. Emergency conditions in palliative care are also addressed. 8 content hours.

csupalliativecare.org/programs/clinicians-essentials/

760-750-4006
Psychosocial Aspects of Care
Psychosocial care explores social determinants of health, and what impact a serious illness is having on a patient and family. This course will utilize the biopsychosocial assessment model to evaluate how a patient is processing the information about disease management and prognosis, how the patient is adapting to any changes in functional status or daily routine, how the patient and family are coping with the burdens of the condition or the prospect of dying, and social supports that can be used. 3.5 content hours.

Spiritual Aspects of Care
Spiritual care can be addressed in the primary care setting using assessments, tools, strategies for coping, and referrals, to intertwine quality health care with spiritual care.
This course introduces a framework for clinicians to recognize the ways in which belief systems affect a patient or family living with a life-threatening illness, and to develop an approach to identify, evaluate, and address spiritual, religious, and existential concerns. 1.5 content hours.

Cultural Aspects of Care
Patients’ and families’ views, perceptions, preferences for treatment, and outcome goals may vary widely depending on their cultural backgrounds, presenting complex challenges for providers and staff.
This course explores cultural differences in the context of palliative care. It identifies barriers to cultural connection, and includes cultural sensitivity tools, suggestions, and approaches for assuring inclusive care for patients and their loved ones during stressful illness. 2.25 content hours.

Care of the Patient at the End of Life
This course provides tools for prognostication of advanced disease progression, care needed across the continuum, and tools for making care recommendations. Standards regarding hospice eligibility, coverage and admission are included, along with information to help providers and patients select appropriate, high-quality services.
Signs and symptoms of imminent death and how to manage them are covered, along with challenging ethical issues for patients nearing the end of life and medical aid in dying. 4.5 content hours.

Integrating Palliative Care into Practice
Providing a primary level of palliative care support in your setting is a practice decision, but also a business decision. This course will help you develop the business case for palliative care in your practice, including forecasting the potential patient pool, resources needed to offer services, achieving acceptance, measuring outcomes, and establishing reimbursement processes. 2.5 content hours.

Self-Care and Resilience
Self-care for you and your team members is essential to combat burnout, moral distress, and team dysfunction, but also to assure you remain open to your patients’ needs, cultural nuances, and beliefs.
This course will help you recognize warning signs of distress, identify your own beliefs and habits that may lead to burnout or compassion fatigue, identify systems and organizational issues affecting providers and care delivery, and give you tools for self-care and building resilience. 1.5 content hours.

This course will equip the participant to:
• Describe assessment models and applications in primary palliative care practices
• Understand grief, the roles of family, and identify supports that are available
• Recognize social determinants of health impacting patient function, and identify local resources to support patients and families

This course will equip the participant to:
• Differentiate patients’ or families’ religious or spiritual needs and concerns
• Understand and use assessments to identify religious and spiritual concerns
• Identify strategies for connecting patients to appropriate spiritual care resources in the community

This course will equip the participant to:
• Define culture and the importance of culture in palliative care
• Differentiate between cultural competence, cultural humility, and radical respect
• Provide insights on bias, and how to create a values-neutral practice
• Discuss issues facing veterans and members of the LGBTQ+ community who are seriously ill

This course will equip the participant to:
• Understand how prognostication impacts the patient’s access to healthcare along the primary care, palliative care, and hospice continuum
• Describe the history, philosophy, and requirements for hospice and other end-of-life treatment preferences
• Assess and manage symptoms of advanced illness
• Delineate the signs and symptoms of impending death
• Apply the essentials of ethical principles common to end-of-life scenarios

This course will equip the participant to:
• Articulate your business case for palliative care, patients to be served, and key interventions to offer
• Identify key members of the practice team to include in service delivery
• Outline and implement steps for billing, measuring care, and quality improvement

This course will equip the participant to:
• Describe why self-care is important in working with seriously-ill patients
• Understand and employ effective self-care strategies and strategies to strengthen resilience

Polypharmacy: Reconciling Medications to Avoid Adverse Events and Support Patient Goals

As goals of therapy shift from prolonging life to symptom management and quality of life, the clinician is often faced with patients on multiple medications. Many of these medications may have little benefit, therefore, stopping them may decrease the risk of adverse effects for patients as well as their financial burden. This online course teaches pharmacists, physicians, advanced practice nurses, and other clinicians a framework for understanding polypharmacy in palliative care patients, providing tools, strategies, and resources clinicians can use to safely deprescribe in alignment with the patient’s and family’s goals.

Building a Community-Based Palliative Care Program

The Community-Based Palliative Care series of ten courses, and the introductory overview course, offers organizations in every stage of palliative care development, and at every point in the implementation journey, practical guidance as well as information and resources from expert faculty to apply in each step of planning and implementation of new palliative care programs. The courses also are excellent for programs exploring expansion, improvement, or enhancement of their current palliative care offerings.

Because you can complete the Community-Based Palliative Care courses at your own pace, you can immediately apply your learning as you build your new program or program plan. Courses may be taken individually, you may purchase as many as you need, or you can purchase the entire series. See p. 19 for CME Credit.*

Course Facts:
Website: csupalliativecare.org/organizations/roadmap/
Starts: Self-paced, starts upon registration
Lasts: Accessible for 90 days
Access: Online, available 24/7
Cost for Complete Series: $1495
More Information: Call 760-750-4006

How to Get Started
An overview of the series, this course helps you successfully plan the formation of your project team, and the pros and cons of hiring a consultant.
CE Hours: none • $25

Palliative Care Models
The first stop on your journey is learning about the benefits and challenges associated with diverse community-based palliative care models, using case studies to define and describe the seven predominant palliative care models. Explore your options, and determine the model that's right for you.
1 CE Hour • $129 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

Conducting a Needs Assessment
This course teaches you how to conduct a thorough needs assessment that details the specific palliative care needs in your community. Included are numerous useful tools and strategies to help you conduct the assessment and present your findings to your leadership and potential partners.
1.5 CE Hours • $149 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

Learning Outcomes:
After completing each course the participant will be able to:
• Distinguish and describe principles and practices unique in community-based palliative care programs
• Apply tools to their own programmatic tactics
• Identify, conduct, or apply the tools described in the course to prospective or existing programs

Identifying Potential Partners to Strengthen Your Program
Partnering with other providers or community organizations can help you identify and access patients, meet fiscal goals, or improve patient outcomes. This course covers specific ways partnerships can enhance your palliative care program, ways to strengthen current partnerships, and the best approaches for your organization to measure the return on your partnership investment.
1 CE Hour • $129 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

Metrics and Measurement for Palliative Care
In this course you will be introduced to the concepts and methods for evaluating palliative care programs. The course describes a measurement model that is designed specifically for palliative care, based on evidence-based measurement frameworks used broadly in healthcare. You will walk through the five steps of selecting appropriate and feasible measures and will be introduced to a unique tool you can employ in your program, the “Palliative Care Measure Menu.”
4 CE Hours • $299 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

Creating Data-Driven Planning, Proposals and Presentations for Your Palliative Care Program

Equip yourself with techniques for creating effective, successful proposals and presentations. The course is built around two core concepts – first, “thinking backwards from the story you want to tell,” and second, maximizing your use of data-driven insights about the current and future states of healthcare in your institution or setting. Use this course to help you achieve your goal of creating, sustaining, expanding or improving your palliative care program.

3 CE Hours • $249 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

Planning Your Implementation

Numerous systems and processes must be put into place to ensure that the program’s goals can be met. Whether you are considering implementing a program, or your decision to implement has been made, an implementation plan is critical. Learn the essential infrastructure elements while gaining information, examples, resources and templates to construct your roll-out plan.

2.5 CE Hours • $249 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

Billing for Palliative Care Services

Whether planning a program or already delivering palliative care, get the in-depth information you need so you can optimize sustainability. Learn to correctly code and bill for advance care planning, chronic care management, transitional care management, and other palliative care services. Following billing, the course focuses on budgeting, and provides a downloadable Excel budget template you can use in creating your budget.

4 CE Hours • $299 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

Developing Partnerships With Payers

Go beyond Medicare reimbursement to generate the revenue you need to grow your community-based palliative care program. This course teaches you how to create a compelling case to payers to secure reimbursement for your services. You will learn to differentiate between the incentives and reimbursement structures allowable under commercial, Medicare, and Medicaid health plans, and how to negotiate contracts for services with payers.

4 CE Hours • $299 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

Facilitating Change

Lasting change, and embracing of new services requires careful planning and attention to change barriers. This course explores organizational change processes, and actions needed to integrate palliative care throughout the organization. It assists in facilitating the successful inclusion of a community-based supportive care program in your organization. Best practices related to creating and sustaining organizational change will be shared along with exercises and tools that you can use to prepare for and support the launch of your community palliative care program.

1.5 CE Hours • $129 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

Educating and Empowering Your Patients and Their Caregivers to Embrace Palliative Care

Although providers may inform patients and families about palliative care and its benefits, information may not be what’s needed to help a person make decisions about or ask for palliative care. Learn how to develop effective messages about the benefits of palliative care, and recognize when patients and families are ready to hear the messages within the context of stages of readiness.

1 CE Hour • $129 • See p. 19 for CME Credit.

The Business Case for Palliative Care

Considering implementing a palliative care program? Need to decide whether or not to do an in-depth program plan? This course focuses on the business of palliative care, and what practices and outcomes are of key interest to administrative as well as clinical leaders in healthcare. You’ll gain the foundational concepts from which you can decide whether to advance to creating business plans and strategies for new program plans.

PROFESSIONAL COURSES RELEASING SOON

Communication Skills for Clinicians
As a healthcare professional who works with seriously ill patients and their families, your communication skills are vital to providing compassionate and effective care. To help you be at your best, the Institute is preparing to offer a new series of short refreshers on best-practice communication skills. Each course targets a situation where communication can be most difficult and your best skills are required.

Sharing Difficult News
When it is time to share a difficult diagnosis, the failure of a treatment regimen or a poor prognosis, tools you gain from this course will enable you and your team to approach these situations with increased confidence. Whether you are new to a palliative care or hospice team or an “old hand,” this course will boost your skills and your confidence.

Informed Decision Making and Shared Decision Making
Helping patients understand where they are in the disease process, what treatment options – including palliative – are available, and how to make informed choices is one of the most challenging aspects of patient-centered communication. This course provides an overview of communication strategies for engaging patients throughout the decision-making process, including assessing capacity, identifying goals of care, overcoming numerous barriers, activating shared decision making, and employing the nine elements of informed decision making.

Consultation Skills and Interprofessional Communication
Palliative care’s strength is based on teamwork among professionals, the patient, their family, clinicians in other disciplines and the referral source(s). Learn critical communication skills that will strengthen relationships with referral sources, enhance collaboration within the team, improve outcomes for patients and coordination of care following the consultation.

Self Care and Resilience
Working with patients with serious illness and their families can be rewarding but it frequently demands more – more teamwork, more commitment, or just simply more of you. But what about taking care of you? How resilient are you? How resilient is your team? How do you restore yourself and your colleagues so you can be present in the ways patients and families need? This self-paced course is the gift you give yourself. Learn how to become more resilient and to proactively care for the one person who needs your care the most.

These courses are being designed through a partnership between the Institute for Healthcare Communication and the CSU Institute for Palliative Care

Custom Programs

Dedicated Instructor-led Courses
Call our Relationship Managers today to discuss customized training to meet your organization’s needs, or to arrange for your team to enroll exclusively as a group.

In addition to our palliative care educational programs, we also offer a full line of case management-specific courses. We call this entire series Care Excellence.

Care Excellence provides a real-world curriculum designed with the involvement of industry experts, researchers, current working professionals, and health plans, to equip care managers working in health plans with foundational, advanced, and leadership skills.
